Comments: I am electromagnetic hypersensitivity and have had to remove our smart meter because it affects our health

I cannot sleep in our front bedroom due to my neighbours smart meter as it keeps waking me up I sleep in another bedroom

These and other biological affects have been well documented by scientists around the world

I assume the regulatory body that keeps rolling out these smart devices are ignoring these studies

I assume for money it always is about money When will governments start considering people first We have lived a long time without these devices And had no need for them but if I am forwarding this to a sub 40 Adult they would not understand this is the point Life is so much better take it from someone who lived most of his life without these interfering frequencies That are not good for our health Documentary attached but I suspect you can't let science get in the way of revenue

I ask you what benefit do smart meters benefit Australian people
