Comments: Smart Meters must be optional, with no financial disadvantage to those who opt out. I suffer electromagnetic hypersensitivity due to over exposure to EMFs particularly of the high frequency radiofrequency type.

Wireless devices have already been removed from my home just so I can exist.

If a Smart meter were to be installed I will have no alternative but to shield it so it does not operate properly. I would also like to be provided protection from a neighbour's Smart meter which causes me grief on one side of my property. That kind of issue must also be addressed in any rule change.

At a time when people are beginning to realize the detrimental health impacts of EMFs, particularly RFRs, this push to widespread Smart Meter usage is an outrage. I object in the strongest of terms.
