

Updated Submission to (AEMC)

A time/term specific contract should be binding on both the Energy Retailer and the Energy customer who enter into such contracts. Neither party should be able to alter these contracts in any way without penalty.

Energy retailers should be obliged by law to negotiate and enter into time/term and condition specific contracts with those in their supply chain so the former can offer binding time/term and condition specific contracts to their Energy customers.

Peter Wilson
Victoria

I understand that my submission , including my name and state will be published on the AEMC website. I am happy for these above mentioned things to occur.